CELEBRITY PREDICTIONS FOR

Amanda Holden

The energy of last year gave Amanda the gift of communication, putting herself out there and making a determined stance to get her career moving forward. On an emotional level she will keep things under wraps and her cards will be kept close to her chest, not really allowing the media to bring her down.

Secretly she is healing from old wounds and much that has been said about her in a negative fashion but yet her style dictates coolness, a sharp mind and level headedness. She is idylsitic and very positive, being a typical Aquarius she does have originality, she is not shy in any manner of the word. She is positive and optimistic even when life can seem difficult and this is the stamp she will make on the world. She must have a free rein to do whatever is expected of her and definitely doesn't like to be controlled. This is something she has come to learn about herself over the past few years. She is an extraordinary person and this has not come into full bloom yet. A ruthless domineering personality is how she may have been portayed in the past, but if you look beneath the thin veil she is the girlfriend who can lift you out of your misery and make a positive influence on ones attitude.

Amanda Holden's Karma

Her karma is one of creativity, she is very sensitive with a strong imagination, very emotional and puts her heart, soul and body into her work and appearance. She is hardworking and determined to build for the future and will not stop for anything. She has strong personal magnetism especially when it comes to pulling in the opposite sex. In knowing this she will not settle for anything less than perfection. She has come into the universe to have the influence and the ability to influence others and be inspirational to the
